

Basic Detail Report

Piña Pot

Date

1960-1970

Primary Maker

Emilio Alejos

Medium

ceramic, glaze

Description

This type of pot is called a Pina and have been used to store both water and 'tepache,' a drink made from pineapple, pulque, water and cloves. This type of pottery is often in the shape of a pineapple or with this pot, the outside is hand molded with the texture of a pineapple. Lid resembles the top leaf part of a pineapple, and has a emerald green glaze throughout

Dimensions

Overall: 20 × 16 × 17 1/8 in. (50.8001 × 40.6401 × 43.4976 cm)