

Hamam Toci (water scoop for bathing) for a new bride with symbols of prosperity and fertility

Date

Early 20th century

Primary Maker

Avak

Medium

Silvered copper

Description

This water scoop is of circular shape when looked at from above. The edge of the water scoop spreads slightly outwards. Floral motifs are present at the edge of the object, on the outside near the bottom and on the bottom of the object around the fish and the bird. The fish, which is situated in the middle, with a red object in its mouth has seven parts which can be moved separately. A bird is situated above the fish which can also be moved separately by itself.

Dimensions

21 X 21.1 X 7.1