

Basic Detail Report

Haydari bracelet

Date

Early 20th century

Primary Maker

Khalil Salman

Medium

silver

Description

Silver with five raised knobs on silver band, raised braid-like edging around band. FA. 72.25-5g Swar or Eṣāwra (early twentieth century) (Fig. 47) This delicate, open silver bracelet is decorated with low, round knobs which are set off in hexagonal frames. The entire bracelet is edged with metallic wire, looped to give a cordlike effect. This bracelet was made by the famous Jerusalemite jeweler Khalil and bears his signature. It is not unknown for artisans in the Islamic world to sign their works, and there exist examples in a variety of media, some dating back to the Middle Ages. 34 Height: 2.3 cm. Diameter: 6.5 cm (Palestinian Costume and Jewelry, Yedida Kalfon Stillman, 1979 ISBN: 0-82630490-7) These bracelets were worn by women to indicate to others they were breastfeeding.

Dimensions

overall: 2.2 CM X 6.5 CM