

Whistle with birds

Date

ca. 1800

Primary Maker

Artist not recorded

Medium

Yorkshire slipware, earthenware clay

Description

A terracotta colored ceramic whistle in the shape of two birds in a double handle vase with a flower. Yorkshire slipware refers to a type of decorated earthenware pottery made in the Yorkshire region of England. "Slipware" means it was decorated with "slip"—a liquid mixture of clay and water that can be trailed, painted, or poured on the surface.