Description

Tin and glass niche containing mission card depicting San Juan Nepomuceno. Tin frame has a glass door and two side panels, and a small glass door in the back. The tin is stamped all over with a closely patterned design of crescents, small flowers and rosettes. The top is cut into three pointed finials, and all outer borders are deeply scalloped. The inside tin is also stamped, and frames a ca. 1870-1880 rose and white floral paper and oleo mission card of San Juan Nepomuceno standing on a stone bridge parapet, with spires and minaretes in the distance.
